LONDON, August 16.

YESTERDAY the Honourable Richard Penn kiſſed his Majeſty's hand on being appointed Governor of Pennſylvania, in North-America.

August 17.

Orders are ſent to Woolwich for two companies of the royal train of artillery to hold themſelves in readineſs to embark for foreign ſervice.

Public orders are poſted up at the war-office for all officers belonging to regiments on the Iriſh eſtabliſhment, and now on duty in that kingdom, to repair immediately to their reſpective corps, in order to be reviewed by the Lord-Lieutenant (Townſhend) after which a draught will be made of the completeſt regiments for the Weſt-Indies.

The conduct of a certain Lord in a late cabinet council has cauſed ſeveral meetings amongſt the miniſtry, to determine whether he ſhall be diſmiſſed the court ſervice or not.

Mr. Edmund Burke is preparing for the Preſs, this enſuing winter, a political pamphlet, under the inſpection of the Marquis of Rockingham; the ſubject of which, we hear, is, A plan for the coalition of parties.

It is the general opinion of the moſt able politicians, that no changes will take place in the higher departments of ſtate previous to the meeting of an auguſt aſſembly; and this certainly is a very reaſonable conjecture, if we conſider the preſent harmony ſubſiſting among thoſe in office, who have declared, that any alterations at this time might ſubject the whole cabinet to the imputation of puſillanimity, and would only tend to inflame the popular outcry, as no man will be admitted who will not ſtrengthen the late meaſures, by carrying into effect the plan of operations already formed for the next ſeſſion.

August 19.

If Lord Chatham's plan of a new miniſtry ſhould be adopted, which at preſent ſeems very likely, the Duke of Graſton will be one of His Majeſty's principal Secretaries of State, and not firſt Lord of the Treaſury.

Lewis Valentine Fuſer, Eſq; is appointed a Major in the 60th regiment of foot, or Royal Americans.

August 20.

It is aſſerted, that circular letters will ſpeedily be ſent to the ſeveral members of the privy council, at their reſpective country ſeats, requiring their ſpeedy attendance in town upon buſineſs of great importance. And as it is poſitively ſaid, that conciliatory meaſures have been the principal object of conſideration at the late Cabinet Council, it is thought they will be carried into effect previous to the next meeting of an auguſt aſſembly.

The Lords in the oppoſition have in one of their proteſts declared, that there has been a ſyſtemical plan carried on, during this reign, for rendering the Houſe of Commons odious, and the Houſe of Lords contemptible, for the purpoſe of finally throwing all power into the hands of the crown. The ſame ſcheme was adopted in the reign of Charles the ſecond, of laſcivious memory. Lord Clifford propoſed in the Houſe of Lords a perpetual fund, which was to be applied to the advancement of the prerogative, and the degradation of parliament. The King and the Duke of York attended in the Houſe, in order to countenance the deſign. The Lords, who were not in the ſecret, ſtaring at one another, and anxiouſly meditating upon the fate of England, remained in an awful ſilence. At length, Lord Shafteſbury, who had promiſed to co-operate in the deſign, in order to have the better opportunity of revenging himſelf and his country, ſtood up, and clearly proved, that the ſcheme would have no other end but that of ſending the royal family once more upon their travels, without any hopes of return. While he was ſpeaking, the Duke of York whiſpered the King, "What a rogue have you of a Lord Chancellor!" The King briſkly replied, "God's fiſh! what a fool have you of a Lord Treaſurer!" The King's brother only attended laſt year when the vital ſtab was given to the conſtitution at midnight. The King was dandling his children.

From the various expreſſes ſent to the Lord Chancellor during the laſt fortnight, it is thought more than probable, that ſome removals have been labouring in the cabinet. It is a fact, that when the firſt expreſs was ſent to Cirenceſter, there were ſeveral poſt-chaiſes and four kept in readineſs all the night at the poſt-office, to forward meſſages, &c. to ſuch of the miniſtry as were then at their country ſeats.—A few days, however, will put a period to the public ſuſpence, as his Lordſhip will certainly be in town on Thurſday next; ſoon after which it is expected the fate of the preſent Premier and his friends will be determined.

A correſpondent ſays, that the Cabinet divided upon a point of great national importance, which has occaſioned the ſeveral members to be ſummoned in town, in order to debate the matter more largely, and to make ſome neceſſary explanations, the want of which is thought to have cauſed the difference in queſtion.

France was never in a more diſtreſſed condition than at preſent. Her repeated failures in ſupporting her foreign credit have entirely locked up every public coffer in Europe from her reach; London, Amſterdam, Genoa, Leghorn, all have refuſed to advance any more ſums to that nation, until there is ſome proſpect of a recovery of their former loans. In this dilemma, the French have now recourſe to œconomy in their own revenues for ſuch ſupplies as they ſhall want. The conqueſt of Corſica has greatly drained their treaſury of the ready ſpecie, and is daily adding to their debts. For this reaſon, they have come to a reſolution to get it off their hands at any rate. Spain and Sicily were applied to, but it is ſaid were obliged to reject the propoſal for want of money. The next offer was made to the Dutchy of Parma, where the bargain at preſent ſtands.

It is whiſpered that propoſals were made by France to our court, to reſign Corſica to Great-Britain on certain ſtipulated terms; but this was rejected with contempt.

It has been the cuſtom of late to throw all the weight of miniſterial fatigue upon the ſhoulders of the Premier—what belonged to other departments as well as his own; by which it happened, that while the two Secretaries of State, &c. were trifling in town, or amuſing themſelves at their country-ſeats, Lord North was ſweating with buſineſs and diſpatches, and groaning under all the accumulated fatigue of three or four departments. But his Lordſhip has now determined to alter this plan. Every man is to attend his own office, and his own buſineſs, and be anſwerable for all blunders in his department: Lord North will be accountable only for the treaſury.—If his Lordſhip accounts for all the blunders of the Treaſury, we believe he will have buſineſs enough to do.

August 21.

We hear that the Parliament will meet for the diſpatch of buſineſs in November next.

Two of the regiments of infantry now lying at Chatham are ſhortly to march for Plymouth; where they are to be embarked for New-York, in North-America.

A ſteel manufactory is eſtabliſhed at Rocheſter, to be conducted after the German manner, being the firſt of that kind ever attempted in England.

A great lawyer has of late had ſeveral private conferences with a Great Perſonage at Richmond.

When Lord North obtained the government of ——— for Sir ———, a particular friend of my Lord's remonſtrated to him about advancing to dignity a perſon whoſe character was very indifferent, and who was generally ſpoken ill of by the people; to which my Lord anſwered in this manner:—I ſhould be glad, ſays he, to find in all England a man more hated than myſelf.

August 22.

The leaders of the oppoſition have had ſeveral conferences within theſe few days, on the ſubject of a new mode of proceeding for the redreſs of grievances.

It is ſaid, if the Lord Chancellor ſhould reſign, he will be offered a penſion of three thouſand pounds per annum, as likewiſe the reverſion of the bankrupt office for his ſons, who have already the reverſion of the office of clerk of the crown.

Among the changes expected in the higher departments of the law, it is looked upon as certain, that Sir Fletcher Norton will be promoted to a very important office.

The Lord Chancellor is on his journey to town. He was this morning at Woodſtock, and will be in town on Saturday next.

The Duke of Richmond has been ſent to by the miniſtry, and likewiſe Lord Shelburne, who is now in France.

No miniſtry were ever more embarraſſed than the preſent.—Notwithſtanding the apparent ſhew of tranquillity, they are in the utmoſt conſternation. They are determined however, if poſſible to keep their ground. For this purpoſe they are endeavouring to effect a coalition. Hence have ariſen the meſſages to the Duke of Richmond and Lord Shelburne, and ſeveral other chiefs of the minority. Should their offers be rejected, we may expect warm work in the enſuing ſeſſions of Parliament; and as their opponents daily gain ſtrength, there is little doubt but the ſpirit of each party will be exerted to the utmoſt ſtretch; at the ſame time there is great reaſon to believe the minority will be a pretty equal match for the ſupporters of deſpotiſm, who, like Iago, have entered in the cauſe ſo far they muſt go on.

Several conſiderable bets have been laid at the weſt end of the town, within theſe few days, that Lord Camden will be in poſſeſſion of the ſeals before January next.

We are informed, that two noblemen, of very diſtinguiſhed abilities, will ſhortly be nominated to aſſiſt the Earl of Hilliſborough in making a particular enquiry into the colony affairs, which are to be fully diſcuſſed early in the next ſeſſion of parliament.

It is ſaid, in regard to the colonies, that all due obedience to the mother-country will be inſiſted on, and that in return, every neceſſary aſſiſtance and protection will be afforded. The propoſal, in its literal ſenſe, is ſurely equitable; but if due obedience is meant to include an entire acquieſcence to arbitrary taxations, it will undoubtedly be rejected.

Junius in his laſt letter to Mr. Horne has taken upon him to ſay, that there is no neceſſity for binding Lord Chatham down by the formality of a written inſtrument to the great cauſe of the people, ſince that noble ſtateſman has publicly declared himſelf a convert to triennial parliaments in the Houſe of Peers; but the people look for more than the re-eſtabliſhment of triennial elections from thoſe who apply for this confidence; they look for the removal of every real grievance by which the ſubject is oppreſſed, and do not by any means bend their eye to a ſingle object of redreſs: They expect the total repeal of the infamous Game Acts, the total repeal of the Marriage Act, and a total annihilation of Penſioners as well as Placemen, tho' ſome of the moſt popular characters of the preſent-hour ſhould even ſwell the catalogue of the former, and ſhamefully contradict by their practice the whole profeſſion of their lives.

EDINBURGH, Auguſt 17. Wedneſday laſt, died at Lochnaw, in the eighty-fourth year of his age, Sir Andrew Agnew, of Lochnaw, Baronet, Lieutenant-General of his Majeſty's forces, and Governor of Tinmouth-Caſtle.

HAMBURGH, Auguſt 9. In a late aſſembly of the burghers of this city, they came to a reſolution of granting a tax of one quarter per cent on all their capitals and eſtates, in order to raiſe ſupplies ſufficient for the extraordinary expences incurred by the inundation. The gardens are not free from the water yet; and the only paſſage over the lands continues to be in boats. The charitable contributions raiſed in the churches on the faſt-day, upon this occaſion, amounted to twenty-ſeven thouſand three hundred and forty marks (one thouſand eight hundred and twenty-ſix pounds ſterling) and the Britiſh factory made a Donation of one thouſand ſix hundred and ſixty-nine marks (one hundred and eleven pounds five ſhillings and four pence ſterling.)

LONDON, August 23.

By an examination into the cuſtom-houſe books, it appears, that we pay no leſs than three hundred thouſand pounds annually to the Dutch, for the bare article of madder, yet madder of a ſuperior kind may be raiſed in great abundance on many parts of Britiſh America, [eſpecially in South-Carolina] and conſequently this object deſerves the ſerious conſideration of government.

August 24.

The little town of Harlenſuhage, on the banks of the river Amſter, in Holland, is entirely ſwept away by the impetuoſity of the floods, from the breaking in of the dykes.

It is ſaid that Lord Camden has refuſed taking the Seals again, alledging that he was certainly as well qualified to hold them two years ago as now. But the truth ſeems to be, that his Lordſhip is grown very fond of a retired life.

Laſt Wedneſday two carriages full of perſons were brought to a public office not many miles from Cleveland-Row, where they underwent a long private examination relative, as is ſuppoſed, to the late fire at Portſmouth dock yard.

The miniſterial and Shelburne factions are already beginning to canvaſs for votes among the livery, for the office of Mayor the enſuing year, in oppoſition to the preſent Lord Mayor.

August 26.

We are well informed, that his Majeſty of Pruſſia, excluſive of the ambaſſadors and envoys he keeps, employs ſpies in every court and city in Europe, who underſtand the modern languages; they appear as gentlemen on their travels, and have a very genteel allowance, inſinuate themſelves into all companies, and regularly tranſmit their intelligence by every mail to Berlin.

Private letters from the Hague bring accounts of a terrible inundation, by the overflowing of the river Amſtel, above Amſterdam, by which above ſix villages are entirely deſtroyed, and, according to a moderate computation, upwards of five hundred people were drowned.

August 27.

It is now aſſerted, that the miniſtry have a ſtrong curioſity and propenſity to try, at their own riſks, how far an adminiſtration may be ſupported by the ſole power of the court, againſt the clamours and general opinion of a whole kingdom.

Sunday morning General Paoli ſet out from his houſe in Albemarle-ſtreet, Piccadilly, for Scotland, and many other places; he was attended by Count Gentili, the Poliſh ambaſſador. They are not expected to return till October next.

Yeſterday morning at three o'clock, an expreſs arrived at the French ambaſſador's, and at half paſt five, the ſame morning, his Excellency ſet off for that kingdom.

It is the common misfortune of almoſt every Engliſhman to be attached to ſome one party or faction, and to have adopted the political creed already eſtabliſhed by his leaders; whence all the extravagancies of that party become his own; and if a ſecond Solomon was to ſit in judgment upon them, it would give him as much pain as an inquiſition into his own private ſins.

Her Majeſty is again pregnant.

BRUSSELS, Auguſt 20. In the memory of man never was ſuch weather known as we have had in this country for theſe laſt three weeks. Not many weeks ago, we had the greateſt appearance of plenty; but at preſent from the continual and exceſſive rains that have fallen, and ſtill continue, we have a moſt melancholy proſpect before us, and indeed, if this bad weather continues but a very little longer, we have every thing to dread. Prayers are offered up in all the churches for fair weather, and this day the proceſſions will begin.

HAMBURGH, Auguſt 16. The waters are fallen to ten feet eleven inches; but by accounts from Magdebourg of the height of the river there, we are apprehenſive, that together with that, and the continuance of the rains and weſterly winds, the waters will riſe again over the lands, which the magiſtrates are labouring to free from the inundation.

LONDON, August 28.

Advices are received of a dangerous inſurrection at Naples, and that a great body of troops have been ſent from Spain to quell the rioters, many of whom are of the firſt quality.

We are aſſured, that there is ſuch a ſcarcity of proviſions in the interior parts of Germany, that it is computed that in the circle of the Lower Rhine, above nine thouſand perſons have periſhed for want of food.

The plan of a new town which is to be ſettled on the junction of the Ohio, at preſent engages the attention of many perſons of diſtinction; Lord Eglington is to be the director, as his Lordſhip is poſſeſſed of vaſt tracts of land in thoſe parts. Several families are ready to embark, and thoſe not of the meaneſt kind. It is to be formed into a regular government; it is expected to be as flouriſhing a city as any in the world. Several perſons of rank are making intereſt already for poſts on this propoſed eſtabliſhment for their dependants.

August 29.

It is confidently aſſerted, that ſo great a coolneſs ſubſiſts between a certain Duke and the Premier, as to prove a frequent clog to the wheels of the political Machine, and unleſs ſpeedily terminated, it is thought will operate ſo forcibly as to drive it ſoon out of its due courſe.

It is ſettled, we hear, beyond a doubt, that the Earl of Chatham is to come into the miniſtry in about eight or nine weeks, at the fartheſt.

It is reported, that the intended tour of a popular Peer will be prevented by the higher powers; as the reſtoration of his health is conſidered as a ſpecious pretext for obtaining an interview with the greateſt Prince in Europe, which may occaſion ſome changes not altogether agreeable to adminiſtration.

August 31.

The Count de Guignes ſailed from Dover for Calais on Tueſday morning early, and arrived there in the Afternoon of the ſame day.—He immediately ſet off in a Poſt-Coach for Paris.

The maſicious reports reſpecting the low Finances of a once celebrated commoner, have not, we are aſſured, the ſmalleſt foundation, but are merely circulated to leſſen him in the opinion of the public, in caſe any change in the miniſtry ſhould, as is much wiſhed for, take place.

September 2.

We are aſſured, that the true cauſe of the Count de Guigne's very haſty departure from this kingdom was, that he had received certain information from his Court, that a diſcovery would inevitably be ſoon made of the Count's being privy to, and concerned in, the late conflagration in Portſmouth Dock Yard, when his perſonal ſafety would be endangered, as in ſuch caſe his privilege as Ambaſſador, by the law of nations.

It is aſſured his Majeſty, on Thurſday laſt, ſignified his deſire to the great officers of ſtate, that they would not retire from town to their country ſeats for a few days to come.

PARIS, Auguſt 22. The Parliament of Paris regiſtered an Edict from the King the 17th inſt. ſuppreſſing the Parliament of Douay.

LONDON, September 3.

We hear that the Spaniſh Ambaſſador's tradeſmen, &c. have received orders to bring in their bills that they may be paid, previous to his Excellency's departure, which, it is ſaid, is fixed for Monday next.

On Saturday a Patent paſſed the great ſeal, confirming the Earl of Suffolk and Berkſhire in the office of Secretary of State for the Northern department.

Orders are ſaid to be ſent to Ireland for all the regiments on that eſtabliſhment to be made up to their full complement of Men; five private Men and a Serjeant are to be added to each Company.

We hear that a very rich widow lady has fallen in love with General Paoli, and that it will be his fault if Matrimony is not the conſequence.

It is certain that the ſeveral orders iſſuing from the Offices, both reſpecting the army and navy, have greatly the appearance of approaching hoſtilities; but we are nevertheleſs aſſured, that no ſuch thing as war is in the remoteſt contemplation, but all is pacific as——the moſt pacific Adminiſtration could wiſh.

September 4.

George Phyn, Eſq; is appointed Captain of a company in the 21ſt regiment of foot.

Extract of a letter from Paris, Auguſt 23.

"Among other military arrangements, the militia of this kingdom is transformed into provincial regiments. The hundred and four battalions will form forty-ſeven regiments, which are to be called by the names of forty-ſeven principal towns.—It is aſſured, that the parliament of Touloufe and Bourdeaux will meet with the ſame fate as that of Douay.——Though the Duke de Praſlin has been here ſome days in conſequence of leave being given him to reſide here on account of his health, he is only permitted to ſee his own family, all other company being expreſly forbid."

September 5.

A correſpondent obſerves, that the late fire at Portſmouth was a more infernal ſcheme than the Popiſh plot, and worſe in its conſequences; the greateſt loſs that could have enſued in the latter, would have been only blowing up both houſes of parliament, which could ſoon have been repaired (at leaſt if they were not better than the preſent) without much loſs; but the deſtruction of the Britiſh navy might have been fatal to the whole nation.

KINGSTON, (Jamaica) SEPTEMBER 7.

ON Tuesday morning last, about 40 minutes past seven o'clock, a most violent shock of an Earthquake was felt in this town, and parts adjacent, nay, it was so very great, that it is supposed the whole island felt it; many chimneys were thrown down; the walls of several houses have received great rents; the Barracks in this town are much damaged; many places in St. David's have likewise felt the effects of its force, and it is the opinion of most people, that had it continued a little longer, this town must have been laid in ruins; it is believed that this was the severest Earthquake that has happened in this island since the year 1692. The consternation of the people was so great, that many attempted to jump out of their Balconies, &c. by which they have greatly suffered, by broken limbs, sprains, &c. The same night about 9 o'clock, a small shock happened, the next morning two more, one about 9 o'clock, and the other about Ten; also several others since, but no damage was done by these.
